Dear Senators Reed, Collins, Cochran, and Gillibrand,

We, the undersigned national, regional, and state museum organizations, write to thank you for introducing S. 3391, the Museum and Library Services Act of 2016. This legislation, which we support, will strengthen the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) and enhance its ability to help museums serve their communities.

IMLS is the primary federal agency that helps museums connect people to information and ideas. Its Office of Museum Services awards grants for educational programming, collections care, professional development, and community outreach. In addition to these grants, the agency also conducts research and data collection, facilitates state and regional collaboration, and advances the museum field through national initiatives.

America’s museums are economic engines, employing 400,000 people and directly investing $21 billion in their communities each year. They are also core educational infrastructure, conducting over 55 million annual visits with school students involving everything from field trips to museum staff programs in schools themselves. Despite these profound impacts nationwide, the Office of Museum Services only received $31 million in Fiscal Year 2016 funding.

The Museum and Library Services Act of 2016 contains a number of provisions specifically supported by the museum field: bolstering the agency’s research and data collection, maintaining an emphasis on state and regional collaboration, expanding interagency partnerships, and highlighting the importance of access to high-quality museum services for every American. We also support the 21st Century Museum Professional Program, which seeks to improve the preparation and training of museum professionals, especially those from diverse and underrepresented backgrounds.

Again, thank you for your support of the museum field. We look forward to working with you to enact this important legislation.

Sincerely,
